In'Tech Medical Acquires Pyxidis, Manufacturer of Surgical Cases and Trays for the Medical Device Industry

The investment represents an important strategic opportunity providing customers with flexibility, kitting opportunities, accelerated time-to-market and scalability.

MEMPHIS, TN (PRWEB) October 24th, 2017, 3:00 am EST

In'Tech Medical SAS (<http://www.intech-medical.com>), the leading Contract Manufacturer of surgical instruments in Orthopedics, announced that it has acquired Pyxidis SA., a reputable French-based manufacturer of customized sterilization cases and trays for surgical Instruments.

With over 40 years of experience and presence worldwide, Pyxidis is renowned for its total commitment to building medical containers with utmost reliability, highest quality, as well as an uncompromised elegance. The company is a preferred contract manufacturer for major orthopedic OEMs, endoscopy, dental and ophthalmic companies.

"Our acquisition of Pyxidis enables us to expand range of service and product offering," says Laurent Pruvost, President of In'Tech Medical, "so we can truly be the one-stop-shop solution with end-to-end solutions for the manufacturing of instruments, implants and now surgical trays. By combining resources with Pyxidis, we are reaffirming our leadership as a Contract Manufacturer for the orthopedic market while assuring first-class services to our customers globally."

The operation strategically complements both companies' offering and is positioned to better serve the needs of Medical Device customers worldwide.

"Today's announcement is an exciting next chapter for Pyxidis, bringing together two industry leaders with a shared passion for quality, craftsmanship, elegance, and customer service," said Fabrice Duprat, Pyxidis President. "As a group, our combined capacity and scale will increase our global reach and help our clients achieve their business objectives. We look forward to leveraging our combined experience, expertise and competitiveness to further contribute to our clients' success."

In'Tech Medical and Pyxidis will be on full display this week at NASS in Orlando, FL. (booth # 540 & 211) and at DKOU in Berlin (booth # 49). Please be sure to stop by to meet the team and learn more about synergies and opportunities for tomorrow.
